

Contributors

Akhtar Badshah manages Microsoft's community affairs, including Microsoft Unlimited Potential and NGO IT programs. Dr. Badshah is a graduate of MIT and author of several books and papers on technology, development, and social innovation.

Andre Covic is a Master's student at the Computing Institute of University of Campinas. His research concerns ethnic aspects of the Brazilian digital divide.

Carol Azungi Dralega is a Senior Researcher at the Western Norway Research Institute. She holds a PhD in Media and Communication from the University of Oslo.

Beathe Due is a Researcher at Telenor ASA. She holds a PhD in Media and Communication from the University of Oslo.

Deborah Dysart-Gale is an Assistant Professor in the General Studies Unit of the Faculty of Engineering and Computer Science, Concordia University, Montreal. Her research interest is in the interface between communication, culture, and technology.

Laurent Elder is Program Leader of the Pan Asia Networking program at Canada's International Development Research Centre (IDRC). He holds master's degrees in both Business Administration and History from the University of Ottawa, and he has close to 10 years working in ICTD, including five years working in IDRC's Dakar office.

Aditi Sharma Grover is a Senior Researcher in the Human Language Technologies group at the African Advanced Institute for Information Communication Technologies (Meraka) in South Africa.

Tebogo Gumede is a Project Manager in the Human Language Technologies group at the African Advanced Institute for Information Communication Technologies (Meraka) in South Africa.

Laura Hosman is an Assistant Professor of Political Science in the Department of Social Sciences at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Sumit K. Majumdar is a Professor of Technology Strategy at the School of Management, University of Texas at Dallas, Richardson, Texas.

Kristina Pitula is a doctoral candidate in the Department of Computer Science and Software Engineering at Concordia University, Montreal. She has 15 years of professional experience in the software industry and five years' experience working in developing countries.

Madelaine Plauché is a Senior Researcher in the Speech Technology and User Interface Design group at the African Advanced Institute for Information Communication Technologies (Meraka) in South Africa.

Thiruvengadam Radhakrishnan, a Professor in the Department of Computer Science and Software Engineering at Concordia University, Montreal, conducts research in ICT for development and medical informatics. He holds a B.E. (Hons) from the College of Engineering, Guindy, Madras, and a PhD from I.I.T. Kanpur, India.

Eli Skogerbø is a Professor in the Department of Media and Communication at the University of Oslo. She holds a PhD in Media and Communication from the University of Oslo.

Matthew L. Smith is a Program Officer in the ICT4D program area at the International Development Research Centre in Ottawa, Canada. He holds a PhD in Information Systems and an MS in Development Studies from the London School of Economics, as well as an MS in Artificial Intelligence from the University of Edinburgh.

Jacques Wainer is an Associate Professor at the Computing Institute of University of Campinas. He is also a Visiting Professor at the Department of Health Informatics at Federal University of São Paulo.

Alta de Waal is a Researcher in the Human Language Technologies group at the African Advanced Institute for Information Communication Technologies (Meraka) in South Africa.