

Contributors

Julia Bello-Bravo is an assistant director at the Center for African Studies at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. She is also one of the co-founders and co-directors of Scientific Animations Without Borders (SAWBO), a program based at the University of Illinois.

Nitesh V. Chawla is the Frank Freimann collegiate chair of Engineering, professor in the Department of Computer Science & Engineering, and director of the Interdisciplinary Center for Network Science & Applications (iCeNSA) at the University of Notre Dame.

Anirudh Krishna is a professor of Public Policy and Political Science at Duke University.

Sibel B. Kusimba is an anthropologist-in-residence at American University in Washington, DC and research associate at the Field Museum in Chicago. Her field research in Kenya has examined environmental adaptation, indigenous political systems, economic change, and mobile money.

Gemechu W. Olana is an assistant professor at Adama Science & Technology University in Ethiopia. He is also a visiting research scholar at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Barry Robert Pittendrigh is an endowed chair professor in the School of Integrated Biology at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. He is also one of the co-founders of Scientific Animations Without Borders (SAWBO) and a co-director of this program.

Cesar Renteria is an associate professor in the Public Administration Division at Centro de Investigación y Docencia Económicas, A.C. (CIDE) in Mexico.

Melissa Tully is an assistant professor in the School of Journalism and Mass Communication at the University of Iowa.

Yang Yang is a PhD student in the Department of Computer Science & Engineering at the University of Notre Dame. He is also a member of the Interdisciplinary Center for Network Science & Applications (iCeNSA).

